1. Introduction

As a school we collect a significant amount of information about our pupils. This notice explains why we collect the information, how we use it, the type of information we collect and our lawful reasons to do so.

2. Why do we collect data?

We collect and use pupil data to:-

- Fulfil our statutory obligations to safeguard and protect children and vulnerable people
- Enable targeted, personalised learning for pupils
- Manage behaviour and effective discipline
- Monitor our effectiveness
- Comply with our legal obligations to share data
- Support pupils to fulfil their potential
- Keep pupils, parents and carers informed about school events and school news.

3. Our Legal Obligations

We must make sure that information we collect and use about pupils is in line with the UK GDPR and Data Protection Act. This means that we must have a lawful reason to collect the data, and that if we share that with another organisation or individual we must have a legal basis to do so.

The lawful basis for schools to collect information comes from a variety of sources, such as the Education Act 1996, Regulation 5 of The Education (Information About Individual Pupils) (England) Regulations 2013, Article 6 and Article 9 of the UK GDPR.

The Department for Education and Local Authorities require us to collect certain information and report back to them. This is called a 'public task' and is recognised in law as it is necessary to provide the information.

We also have obligations to collect data about children who are at risk of suffering harm, and to share that with other agencies who have a responsibility to safeguard children, such as the police and social care.

We also share information about pupils who may need or have an Education Health and Care Plan or other SEND support. Medical teams have access to some information about pupils, either by agreement or because the law says we must share that information, for example school nurses may visit the school.

Counselling services, occupational therapists are the type of people we will share information with, so long as we have consent or are required by law to do so.

4. Sharing Information

Other services, organisations and people we may share information with include, but are not limited to:

- schools or academies that the pupils attend after leaving us
- the Department for Education (DfE)
- the NHS as required

- suppliers of software and apps that are used in school

We must keep up to date information about parents and carers for emergency contacts.

5. How we use the data

In school we also use various third party tools to make sure that pupils' best interests are advanced. We also record details about progress, attainment and pupil development to support future planning, teaching and learning.

We use software to track progress and attainment.

We use data to manage and monitor pastoral needs, monitor safeguarding concerns and attendance/absences so that suitable strategies can be planned if required.

We use systems to take electronic payments for school meals and visits. This includes financial software to manage school budgets, which may include some pupil data.

Data can be used to monitor school effectiveness, the impact of intervention and learning styles across groups of pupils as well as individual children.

We may use consultants, such as the Educational Welfare Officer, Educational Psychologist, experts and other advisors to assist the school in fulfilling its obligations and to help run the school properly. We might need to share pupil information with them if this is relevant to their work.

We also use contact information to keep pupils, parents, carers up to date about school events and enable parents, carers to be contacted in the case of an emergency.

6. What type of data is collected?

7. The National Pupil Database (NPD)

This information is securely collected from a range of sources including schools, local authorities and awarding bodies.

We are required by law, to provide information about our pupils to the DfE as part of statutory data collections such as the school census and early years' census.
